Summary

Mouko is a graduating third year high school student and will be entering into a junior college. Her average school life comes to an end when the teacher she had been holding a flame for all these three years is getting married. At that time, a carton of white milk serves as an impetus for her first encounter with Kiyome, a freshman...

♥ Right now, I'm on a diet. Everyday, I go walking, drink soy milk, eat jelly, restrain myself from my beloved, beloved, beloved sweets (although I do sneak a bite...) and visit a beauty treatment clinic. I've lost some weight! I'm thinner too! Ah! I need to do is gain muscle and protect myself from a rebound. My rebound includes sweets, chocolate, donuts, manjyu, cake... (Ikumi Ryo)

◀The Story So Far▶

Yama is a highschool freshman. She is doing her classroom. Sawa but can't take her mind off of her cool and composed biology teacher Kajima who takes the same train every morning. While gradually talking more and more with him, she realizes that the reason she comes to school is to see him and that she constantly gazes in his direction. She breaks up with Sawa and confesses to Kajima. Although she cannot be with him as he is already engaged, they maintain a good student-teacher relationship.

Childhood friends, Kanna and Haruta, and middle-school classmates, Miya and Asami, form a close-knit group of high school classmates. The four of them are always together until one day. Miya asks Kanna out and they go to the fireworks festival alone. Miya confesses to her there. At the same time, Haruta gets into an accident and dies. Asami, who has feelings for Haruta but knew that he liked Kanna, blames them for it and they each go their separate ways. A while later, the three are able to talk to each other again, but the emotional pain of losing Haruta is just too deep.
